1. In implementing the Director's instructions concerning the employment of consultants, the Deputy Director (Administration) feels that the employment of experts should be subjected to similar controls.

2. Accordingly, in order that the use of experts does not violate the spirit of the Director's instructions, your Personnel Division should review each request for the appointment of an expert, with a view to determining whether it more properly should be treated as a consultant case. If, after requesting justification from the office desiring the employment, it is determined that the case should be treated as a consultant, it should be referred to the Deputy Director (Administration) for review. If in his opinion such action is required he shall present it to the Director for approval.
